Appearance

Clear to light straw with enough color to hint at its origins. No more, no less.

Nose

On the nose, this white version of the red Sangiovese grape comes across as citrus, grapefruit, clover and a hint of cream. All the things you would expect from a proper "white wine".

Palate

The initial taste is acidic and stunning. This is a bright fruit forward cool drink of happiness. As you move forward with the next drink the wine takes its place on the mid-palate affirming this is a Sangiovese grape. Stone fruit, citrus zest, with a base layer of wet gravel and minerality.
